Friday, October 20

Separate Ways the Band (Journey)

As a spitting image of one of the greatest rock bands of the '80s, Separate Ways the Band incites passionate musicianship and perfect harmonies in every performance. Concertgoers "won't stop believing" their eyes as the devoted duplicates take audience members on the ultimate rock and roll "Journey."

For Trespass, rocking to albums like "Nursery Cryme" and "Foxtrot" is an art they'll never stop perfecting. British rock lovers can swoon over their signature sound as the band recreates the Genesis concert experience.

Friday, November 3

Mullett

It's all about big, crimped, messy hair and a gaudy fashion sense when Mullett takes the stage to rock out in classic 80s style. The crowd can let their own locks loose when the four Glam Band performers show everyone why mullets have more fun.

Red Not Chili Peppers (Red Hot Chili Peppers)

So they're not the Red Hot Chili Peppers, but it's still time to turn up the heat when this dead ringer showcases how to pay tribute to one of the greatest funk rockers of the past three decades. For those who find a haven in alternative hits, this is one explosive performance not to miss!

B Street (Bruce Springsteen)

Hailed as the “original Springsteen tribute band,” the B-Street Band has paid tribute to “the Boss” for over 30 years. The six-person group has notably opened for Bruce Springsteen outside the Philadelphia Spectrum for the final four shows of the historic arena.

Friday, November 24

Unforgettable Fire \(U2\)

20 years in the making, this East Coast favorite offers a spitting image of U2’s look, sound, and even stage lighting. As self-proclaimed U2 fanatics, these four dynamite band members are building a reputation for total authenticity with each and every powerhouse performance.

Friday, December 1

Glass Houses \(Billy Joel\)

Named for the hit 1980 album, Glass Houses takes audiences on a musical odyssey through over 30 years of Billy Joel’s best, crisscrossing time periods for a dazzling, time-warping performance that will leave concertgoers swaying along to everything from “The Ballad of Billy the Kid” to “It’s Still Rock and Roll to Me.”

Friday, December 15

Riders on the Storm \(The Doors\)

For larger than life music, channel Jim Morrison. That’s what Riders on the Storm live by as they deliver The Doors’ most rousing, bone-chilling hits complete with theatrical vocals and chaotic stage antics.

Friday, December 29

Countdown to Ecstasy \(Steely Dan\)

With the perfect infusion of jazz, R&B, and soul, this Steely Dan inspired musical clan takes audiences on a journey through the rock era’s most intriguing muses: recreational drugs, love affairs, gambling, and crime.
